EDUCATIONAL RALLY SUNDAY.

Important Meeting Held at the First Baptist Church—Some Excellent Addresses.

An important meeting was held at the First Baptist church Sunday morning at 11 o'clock in behalf of Bryan's educational interests. It was not the purpose of the meeting to raise funds, and it was so stated in the advance announcement; but it was rather to foster the school interests of Bryan, and particularly the work of Christian education. Considering the bad weather the meeting was well attended and was spirited and highly encouraging. Dr. Geo. T. Butler, president of the Texas Woman's College, presided at the meeting and the following program was given:

Benediction

Dr. G. B. Butler made a report of work done on the field in behalf of the Texas Woman's College. He has secured fifty young ladies for next session outside of Bryan and raised $1,000 in cash and pledges. He expects August to show even better results and the college will doubtless open with an enrollment of 125 or more. Everywhere he has been the school was favorably known and had many friends. "A school, like an individual," declared the speaker, "must grow its place. The whole situation is encouraging and the future looks bright."

Prof. R. O. Allen made an address on the mutual helpfulness of Bryan's schools. Bryan is becoming well known as an educational center. The schools are working in perfect accord, and Prof. Allen said, help each other wonderfully. A dozen good schools would not be too many in the town. Bryan is getting much valuable advertising from her schools. Attention was called to the fact that only a few years ago many people had the idea that Bryan was an unhealthy place. This fallacy has been effectively exploded. The ideal college town is where every inhabitant is keenly alive to the importance of higher education.

Mayor J. E. Butler made an address on the value of her schools to Bryan. Mr. Butler said Bryan is a remarkable town in some respects. That it had always been prosperous and was never more so than today. For many years the town has had a large trade territory, but that in recent years this has been largely lost by invading railroads on the east and the west. Then Bryan has lost many of her wealthiest citizens by removal to other cities. Notwithstanding these losses, and although thousands of bales of cotton have been diverted, the town has not seemed to feel any loss, but has steadily grown and prospered. In seeking a cause for this rather remarkable fact, Mr. Butler said he was forced to the conclusion that our progress remained unabated simply on account of what our schools are doing for us and because of the splendid determination of the people of Bryan to keep the town to the front. The speaker also referred to the value of Bryan's schools in contributing to high moral character and good citizenship.

Mr. F. M. Law spoke on the Faculty of the Texas Woman's College as being composed of men and women who believe steadfastly in God, in the teachings of the Bible and in Christian education, and said only such would ever be called to aid in shaping the destiny of the institution. He called attention to the regrettable tendency of many who are connected with high institutions of learning in this country to drift off into the theory of higher criticism, and declared the crying need of the nation was for schools steadfastly grounded in religious principles.

Mr. A. W. Buchanan spoke of Bryan's schools from a patron's standpoint. He said the purpose nearest the heart of most parents is the welfare of their children. Parents always desire to live to see the youngest child educated and equipped for life. It is highly important that the young should be educated where the environments are favorable to Christianity. When Mr. Gorky, the eminent Russian author, had returned home after visiting America, he said the American people are all absorbed in a mad scramble for money. He blamed our institutions of learning for this state of affairs, explaining that they are not teaching the people as they should how life is to be enjoyed. Mr. Buchanan expressed his belief that our schools are responsible largely for this spirit of greed, but this culpability is rather due to the spirit of the age in leaving God out of life and attempting to tear down the Bible.

Rev. J. L. Crane of the Christian church led in the opening prayer and Rev. J. F. Hailey pronounced the benediction.

Keep up the lick, gentlemen.

OUTLINE ISSUES.

Bryan Will Suggest How He Thinks Campaign Should Be Waged.

New York, July 30.—William Jennings Bryan, it is announced, desires it to be known that he will outline his conception of the issues upon which the next Democratic national convention should be fought in his Madison Square Garden speech on Aug. 30.

This is the official programme of the Bryan reception, as announced yesterday at the headquarters of the reception executive committee at the Victoria hotel:

Mr. Bryan will be met at the Battery on the afternoon of Aug. 30 by the members of the reception committee in carriages. He will enter a carriage in which will be Governor Folk of Missouri, chairman of the reception committee; Tom L. Johnson, mayor of Cleveland, and possibly some other prominent Democrats. Headed by the Bryan carriage the procession will move up Broadway to the Victoria hotel.

Mr. Bryan will meet the Democratic leaders and dine there. In the evening he will be escorted to Madison Square Garden for the reception.

Governor Folk will call the meeting in the Garden to order and will make a speech, after which he will introduce Mayor Johnson to the president.

August Thomas will deliver an address of welcome on behalf of the Commercial Travelers' Anti-Trust league, which took the initiative in planning the reception. Mr. Bryan will then deliver his oration on the Democratic issues for 1908. More than 900 acceptances to the invitation to the reception have been received, it was said.

Word was received at the Victoria hotel from the treasurer of the reception committee, Alexander Troup of New Haven, in regard to the popular subscriptions for Mr. Bryan's reception that the subscriptions had been pouring in upon him and will be in the end all that Mr. Bryan expected on the score of the number who are contributing and the willingness to give a dollar to the cause.

The first period of instruction ends on Friday next and on Saturday the military regiments will leave for home. Their place will be taken by commands from other states. The work was outlined in order by Brigadier General Bubb, in command. It consists of company instruction by all organizations. There also will be technical engineering and signal service work exemplified by men from detachments of the regular army.

Authorities here are awaiting fuller reports establishing responsibility for the accident before determining on disciplinary measures to be taken.

DROWNINGS SUNDAY.

Quite a Number of Persons Thus Lose Their Lives.

EIGHT PERISH AT SEA.

Squall Strikes a Couple of Vessels With Pleasure Seekers on Board and Six Brave Men Save Many Mortals.

Angel Sea, N. J., July 30.—Two yachts coming in from the fishing banks capsized on Hereford Inlet Sunday. There were thirty-two persons on one yacht, of whom seven were lost, and twelve on the other, all of whom but one were saved. That not more fell victims to the rough sea was due to the heroism of Captain Henry S. Ludlam of the Hereford Inlet lifesaving station and a crew of five men. It was at first thought that from fourteen to twenty-four persons had been lost, but after an investigation the coroner stated that he believed only eight were lost.

Angel Sea is one of the favorite fishing places along the southern New Jersey coast, and has seldom had a busier Sunday. Every excursion train from Philadelphia and other nearby points came down crowded with visitors, most of whom intended spending the day fishing. The weather in the morning was ideal, and all the fishing boats took out large crowds to the fishing banks. After noon, however, a brisk breeze sprung up, and the captains of the small craft hoisted sail and started for home. Most of the fleets got in without mishap, although some of them had considerable difficulty in closing the Hereford bar. The two vessels having etoain dlu were the Nora and the Alvin A. A heavy squall struck the Nora. Despite the efforts of the captain the craft keeled over and was hit by a huge wave. The wind and the wave coming together was more than the yacht could stand, and it turned completely over, throwing the thirty-two occupants into the sea. As the boat turned over the mast snapped like a reed. There was an agonizing cry as the yacht turned turtle, which was quickly silenced when nearly all the victims disappeared beneath the water. The heavy sea, however, possibly was responsible for the saving of most of the eighteen survivors, as the waves were so rough that the upturned yacht was tossed about, thus uncovering the struggling victims who were underneath.

As many as could tried to reach the keel, but it was a difficult matter, as there was an indescribable tangle of fishing nets, lines, baskets and sail. There was no time to help one another, as it was all that the struggling men could do to keep their heads above water. One boy, however, Frederick Fisher, aged fifteen, who was found struggling near the boat, was lifted upon the upturned keel by two men who had tight grips on the vessel. In the unequal fight between the element the struggling men disappeared one by one until only one was left hanging to the boat. After hanging to the yacht for nearly an hour, and as hope of rescue had almost been abandoned, a government lifeboat commanded by Henry S. Ludlam of the Hereford Inlet lifesaving station, hove in sight. As he came near he shouted encouragement to the men clinging to the Nora, and after some maneuvering managed to get close to the capsized vessel. He was not a moment too soon, for as he came within a boat's length of the Nora four men, weakened from exhaustion, let go their holds and began floating away. Capt. Ludlam threw his boat around and the four half drowned men were drawn from the water. Then, at the risk of their own lives, the rescuers went after the other men and pulled them into their boat.

Shortly after the survivors of the Nora were brought ashore another yacht, the Alvin B., was seen to capsize about a mile above the place where the Nora went over. All were saved but one.

FIVE DROWNED IN SQUALL.

New York, July 30.—Five persons were drowned by a squall on Lake Neahwanta, the lifeboat being capsized.

THREE PERISH IN LAKE.

AFTER GAMBLERS.

Most Extensive Crusades Ever Known In State of Rhode Island.

Providence, July 30.—The most extensive crusades against gambling ever undertaken in this state are in progress under the directions of sheriffs, who are following out the instructions from Governor Utter, it is said. Raids have already been made at several points, notably at North Providence, a part of the town of Warwick and at Narragansett Pier. Activity of authorities is causing a general exodus of promoters of gambling from the state.

CAPTURED FOREMAN.

Employes Were Forced to Print Copies of the Viborg Manifesto.

St. Petersburg, July 30.—A party of men armed with revolvers forced their way into the Bousell printing establishment here. They made the foreman a prisoner and prevented the compositors from leaving the building. They then had 150,000 copies of the Viborg manifesto of the outlawed lower house of parliament.

WHO TOOK LETTERS.

Detective Staub Says He and Another Party Broke Open Trunk.

Pittsburg, July 30.—In the Hartje divorce case Monday the presence of several private detectives in the court room gave rise to the report that the plaintiff would attempt to prove where he obtained the famous love letters to Coachman Madine, the co-respondent. The surmise was correct, as the first witness called was John B. Staub, an operative for a private detective agency. Witness testified he had visited Madine's room twice, and, with John A. Anderson, another detective, had broken open Madine's trunk and removed the letters. He identified court exhibits as the missives taken. During Staub's testimony Mrs. Hartje appeared uneasy and then angry, while her husband's manner was apparently one of cool indifference.

LARGE MAN DIES.

Required Sixteen Men to Lower Corpse Into the Grave.

Chicago, July 30.—A dispatch to the Record-Herald from Anderson, Ind., says: Five thousand people were attracted to Anderson cemetery by the burial of Joseph Rodecap, a farmer, and the heaviest man in Madison county.

Mr. Rodecap weighed 460 pounds. His coffin was three feet wide, twenty-eight inches deep and seven feet long. No hearse could carry it because of its size and a wagon was used as a funeral car. Ten men were required to carry the coffin and sixteen men to lower it into the grave. Mr. Rodecap died of cerebral embolism. He was fifty-one years of age.

AFTER MILL MANAGERS.

One Shot to Death and Policeman Saved Life of Another.

Ekaterinoslav, Russia, July 30.—There is great agitation among the workmen of this industrial district, but the leaders thus far have successfully prevented a strike, urging the necessity for continuing work until a signal is given from Moscow and St. Petersburg. At Yuzovka and Yekaterinodar, however, without waiting for a general signal, many factory and mine workers struck. Foreign consuls at Yekaterinoslav made representations to their governments regarding the necessity for protecting foreign subjects. Three foreign managers of mills have been attacked during the last week. A German manager was shot with a revolver and killed while leaving his factory. A Belgian manager escaped death through the intervention of a policeman. One workman was shot dead and a French manager compelled to flee.
